

Winter

*Yes indeed it's been a long cold winter
Our hearts still frozen but underneath they're healing
Some warmer weather could help them along
You can feel the spring coming and it's been so long
It makes us forget all the pain
Then we get back up and do it all over again*

*But then spring is beginning
And the best part are the women
I haven't seen you look so good since a long, long time ago
But won't you come and take my hand, and don't you ever wonder:
If the best part about winter is when it's gone*

*Laying by the fire with you felt so good to me baby
Makes it even nicer coming in here from the snow
But soon outside my windows, the flowers will grow
What happens next nobody knows
A million flags waving are the new leaves in bloom
Under a sun that has slumbered too long*

*That icy loneliness that keeps us so paralyzed melts
To find December's romance has died
That storm that's kept us close will finally subside
And we can get on with our lives
Survived another winter with the help of one another
But now it's time to just say goodbye*
